

Join us for Lunch at the Marryatville Hotel

12 noon
On
Wednesday 18th January

More details at the November 2022 Meeting

Pub Lunch menu and drinks at your own expense

At the General Meeting on the 20th February

2023 Historian Skye Krichauff presents

Early relations between the Tarndanya people of Adelaide Plains and European Colonists, 1836 – 1840

The first dinner given to the Aborigines 1838
Martha Berkeley
Art Gallery of SA

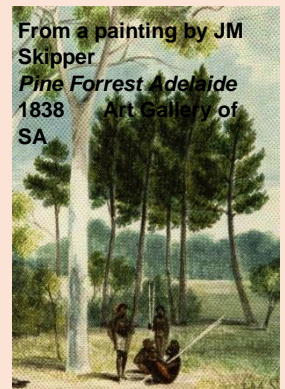

The Adelaide district is remarkable for the positive relations that existed between the colonists and the local Aboriginal people during the earliest years of the colony's history. Although initially cautious, within a few months of the arrival of the first ships, a group of forty Aboriginal people (comprised of men, women and children) camped alongside the newcomers at Holdfast Bay. Colonists perceived the local people as friendly, good humoured and obliging. The presentation outlines the reasons for these relatively harmonious interactions, providing relevant historical context and focusing on key individuals.

Skye Krichauff is an ethno-historian who is interested in colonial cross-cultural relations, the relationship between history and memory, and how societies live with historical injustices. She has convened courses on Australian history, colonial history and Aboriginal-settler history at Flinders University, worked as a history researcher

Alexander Schramm - An Aboriginal encampment near the Adelaide foothills.
Art Gallery of SA

for an Aboriginal Community organisation and as an expert historian for South Australian Native Title Services. She is currently employed as an ARC Research Fellow on the linkage project 'Reconciling with the Frontier'.

From a painting by JM Skipper Pine Forrest Adelaide 1838
Art Gallery of SA

7.30pm in the Burnside Community Centre Hall, (adjacent to Burnside Library) 401 Greenhill Road, Tasmore. Enter car park from Fisher Street off Portrush road.

Scan the QR code to connect to our website

